Course catalog description:

The Internship Seminar provides professionally supervised, consistent, and comprehensive exposure to the administrative roles and functions of student affairs offices. The internship involves direct service to students and is designed to assist the intern to learn how a functional area is organized and accomplishes its role. Students will enroll in this seminar during their first semester of the program. The seminar is designed to integrate supervision and coursework and will be supervised by faculty and internship site supervisor.

Class materials/ Textbooks: Readings are provided electronically

Other description of course purposes, context, methods, etc:

Grading policy: P/F

Assignments:

Journal.

The Journal is designed as a formal place for students to process, analyze and critique their experiences in the Internship. The Journal will be submitted six times during the semester, one week prior to each scheduled seminar. First journal due September 15 (then also due on 9/29, 10/13, 10/27, 11/10 and 11/24). It will be read only by the seminar instructor. The Journal is considered confidential and will not be shared with other students or site supervisors.

Suggested areas for comment in the Journal include:

1. Experiences that have contributed to the development of your professional identity.
2. Reactions to the seminar—positive and negative aspects, ideas for improvement.
3. Various supervisory/ leadership styles you have observed, relative effectiveness of the styles; reflections and implications of your preferred supervisory/ leadership style (can you identify it?). What are you learning about the style you prefer and why?
4. Comments about the strengths and weaknesses in your own administrative and organizational skills. Areas where you believe you need to improve or have noted improvement.
5. Organizational values you observe being demonstrated in the organization where you work; consistency between espoused organizational values and practice. Identification of critical organizational values you seek in an organization.

6. Identifying frustrations and/or obstacles hindering your attainment of goals in the Internship; sharing of successes experienced in the Internship.
7. Anticipated transitions you will face from being a graduate student to a full-time professional.
8. Information you are gathering to clarify your own career goals and interests.
9. Observations on areas of your own expertise, qualities and skills you possess that will allow you to make significant contributions in the field; areas warranting your attention for further development.
10. Examples of ways in which the knowledge you have obtained in your academic program serves to guide and direct your work activities.

Academic Integrity Policy:

The Office of Student Conduct supervises issues related to violations of academic integrity (see <http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu>). Please familiarize yourself with the university policy on academic integrity at http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/files/documents/AI_Policy_2013.pdf

Office of Disability Services:

Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where you are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation: <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines>. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodations, your campus's disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodations. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodations with them as early in your courses as possible. To begin this process, please complete the Registration form on the ODS web site at: <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/registration-form>.

What areas are of particular interest. What does your intuition tell you about consistency/inconsistency between espoused and enacted values?

Discussion of Whitt article included in this topic.

Assignment for third class:

Continue and complete cultural audit. Come prepared to discuss salient aspects of culture and strategies to assess (e.g. effective interview questions; informal observations; what do mission statements, annual goals and objectives, organizational charts tell us and fail to tell us).

CLASS THREE

Issues to be covered:

Sharing of site experiences

Discussion topic--Organizational culture (continued)

Identification and manifestation of the values, basic assumptions, and beliefs of the department in which you work.

Exploration of the professional values that guide you in your professional activities .

Effective strategies for assessing organizational values and operating assumptions.

Discussion of findings and insights from cultural audit process.

Assignment for the 4th class:

Discuss with your supervisor sample ethical dilemmas that surface in this functional area that an entry level professional may have to face. Prepare and bring a 1-2 page ethical case study which applies to your unit for class discussion. Bring enough copies for classmates and instructor. Be prepared to lead a class discussion about your case study.

CLASS FOUR

Issues to be covered:

Sharing of site experiences

Ethical Case Study

As a result of your experiences in this site and/or discussions with your supervisor, develop a one page case study that examines some complex ethical dilemma(s) that you might face in this particular unit. The case study should both challenge your peers to consider how to behave in an ethical manner and teach them about your functional area. Make enough copies for the seminar group and be prepared to lead the class in a discussion as they sort through how to handle the challenges you present. 10-15 minute discussion

Assignment for 5th class:

Read:

Barr, Margaret J. "Becoming Successful Student Affairs Administrators"
