Learning goals

This course focuses on learning about techniques that help identify and prevent potential disruptive behavior in order to sustain a working classroom community. In such a community, it is important to build positive student-teacher relationships where students are encouraged to regulate their own behavior and conflicts (if/when they occur) can be resolved fairly.

New Jersey Professional Standards for Teachers (2014)¹

This course incorporates the New Jersey Professional Standards for Teachers, specifically Standards 3 (Learning Environments), 4 (Content Knowledge), 5 (Application of Content) and 11 (Ethical Practice).

Council for the Accreditation of Education Professionals (2013)²

This course incorporates the Council for the Accreditation of Education Professionals Accreditation Standards and Recommendations, specifically Standard 1 (Content and Pedagogical Knowledge).

Course catalogue description

This course is based on three premises: (1) that most problems of classroom order can be prevented through the use of good classroom management strategies, positive teacher-students relationships, and engaging instruction; (2) that the goal of classroom management is not obedience, but the development of students' ability to regulate their own behavior; and (3) that given today's diverse society, teachers must become “culturally responsive classroom managers.” The course focuses not on disciplinary interventions designed to control students, but on ways of preventing disruptive behavior, creating a peaceful, caring community, resolving conflicts, and meeting students’ needs. Particular attention is given to ways of managing diverse classrooms in culturally competent ways.

Required Texts

Weinstein, C. S. (2006), Secondary Classroom Management: Lessons from Research and Practice (3rd edition). New York: McGraw-Hill.

Weinstein, C.S., Tomlinson-Clarke, S., & Curran, M. (2004). “Toward a Conception of Culturally Responsive Classroom Management.” Journal of Teacher Education, 55; 25-38. DOI: 10.1177/0022487103259812.

Grading Policy

This course will be graded in terms of Pass/No Credit. Grades will be submitted to the registrar in the fall after course requirements are met.

Academic Integrity Policy

Any violation of academic honesty is a serious offense and is therefore subject to an appropriate penalty. Refer to <http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/integrity.shtml> for a full explanation of policies.

Attendance Policy

Because this is a short course which relies heavily on student participation, I expect perfect attendance. If illness or emergency prevents you from attending, you will need to compensate for your absence by completing additional written work. Not only must you come to class, but you must also participate in class. As a teacher, you will be expected to have clear and strong opinions and be able to express them to your students. In this class, you will have an opportunity to practice those thinking and talking skills. You must come to class having finished the readings for that day and prepared to discuss and reflect upon the material.

Summary of Requirements

Course paper (due October 19th, 2015): This paper has two parts.

Part 1: Create a classroom management plan for your own classroom (approximate length 6-8 pages, typed, double-spaced). Reflect on what you have read and learned in your courses and on your experiences during your internship. Then develop a plan that addresses the following questions:

- 1 What are the goal(s) of your classroom management plan? (This goal statement should serve as an introduction to your plan and should be approximately 1-2 paragraphs. The rest of the plan should be consistent with this statement.)
- 2 What will you do, starting on the very first day, to create a sense of community and caring?
- 3 What specific rules will guide classroom behavior? Describe the process you will use to develop and teach these rules to your students (i.e., Will you develop them yourself, or will you generate them with students? Will you distribute or post them in writing?)
- 4 What will you do if students violate classroom rules? Be sure to discuss strategies for minor misbehavior (e.g., chatting, staring into space, and calling out) as well as strategies for more serious misbehavior. What principles underlie your choice of strategies?

- 5 What procedures or routines will you establish for (1) collecting homework, (2) going to the restroom, (3) taking attendance, and (4) keeping track of work for absent students?

Note: Your management plan should demonstrate your understanding of sound, generally accepted management goals, principles, concepts, and strategies. (In other words, you should avoid adopting strategies that cause public humiliation to students that erode positive student-teacher relationships, or that foster compliance rather than self-regulation.)

Part 2: Since definitions and expectations of appropriate behavior are culturally influenced, managing today’s diverse classrooms requires teachers to be “culturally responsive classroom managers.” Demonstrate your understanding of culturally responsive classroom management (CRCM) by completing the following tasks (approximately 2 pages):

- 1 Draw upon readings and class discussions to discuss two specific examples of the kinds of conflicts that can occur in classrooms when there is a “cultural gap” between teachers and students and when teachers ignore students’ cultural backgrounds. (1 page)
- 2 Discuss three ways you can work to enact culturally responsive classroom management in your classroom. For example, you might discuss how would be culturally responsive when working with parents, communicating with students, establishing your expectations, and/or designing the physical environment of the classroom.

Make sure you answer ALL of the above questions in your paper. Also, please adhere to the following format when writing your paper.

- a. Papers must be typed, double-spaced, using Times New Roman, 12 pt. font
- b. One inch margins all around (top, bottom, left, right)
- c. While the final paper may be handed in early, it WILL NOT be accepted if late. No exceptions.

Office of Disability Services

Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where you are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation: <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines>. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodations, your campus's disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodations. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodations with them as early in your courses as possible. To begin this process, please complete the Registration form on the ODS web site at: <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/registration-form>.
